ARTIST TALK

THE HOUSING QUESTION; HELEN GRACE, NARELLE JUBELIN AND SHERRE DELYS

An extensive exhibition by distinguished artists Helen Grace, Narelle Jubelin and Sherre DeLys. Guest-curated by Julie Ewington, and comprising video, photography, sculpture and installation, the exhibition occupies the entire Gallery. The Housing Question takes its title from Friedrich Engels's seminal 1872 texts addressing the severe housing shortages in his native Germany. After nearly 150 years this question remains pressing today.

GARDEN

As the last of the autumn leaves fall and the winter chill sets in, these bright little viola tricolor flowers warm the heart. Their size may be small but their appeal is impressive, so much so local work experience students listed them number one on the plant identification sheet they helped to create.

The cheerful viola tricolor is native to Europe and has several common names including: Johnny jump-up, tickle-my-fancy, three faces in the hood, heart's ease and many more. Can you add to our list?
