30 NOV 2019 UNTIL 22 MAR 2020

I HOPE YOU GET THIS: RAQUEL ORMELLA

A NETS Victoria and Shepparton Art Museum touring exhibition

A selection of new and recent work by one of Australia's leading contemporary artists. The exhibition includes a wide variety of media, and particularly draws on Ormella's experimental textile works, exploring key themes that the artist has consistently developed in her work: social and environmental activism; human and animal relationships; nationalism and national identity. | FREE

THE HAT PROJECT

This exhibition showcases individually designed hats that reflect the personalities and unique stories of the Aboriginal artists and Elders who came together to learn new skills and talk about the past and how it shaped their identities. | FREE

GARDEN

The Gallery gardens are entering the dry, hot conditions of summer. This is an exciting season for all gardens in the Greater Western Sydney Basin as the resilience of some plant species becomes apparent.

The succulent garden in the courtyard of Lewers House faces west, and the plants show us an excellent example of resilience in the face of adversity! The cactus and succulent species are from the arid geographical regions of the North and South Americas. Yucca, Agave attenuate and Aloe Americana stare down summer's high temperatures. These plants are textural in appearance and bolstered by an abundance of resin-like sap for their food source in the most torrid conditions.

In contrast, Lewers House's front garden is littered with bergamot, Californian poppy, calendula, alyssum and the ever-present wormwood. In the vegetable garden, look for the early shoots of spinach, sweet corn and various herbs including basil and parsley with a dappling of borage throughout.

Although not in vivid bloom, the vibrant green shoots of our wisteria near the bathhouse provide a beautiful leafy display.
